

Definitions of Classes

Patient: An individual visiting a medical center that will be examined by a doctor that will record and monitor the condition of their health. A patient can also be subject to numerous tests if the doctor recommends it.

Blood Sample: A sample of blood that was extracted from a patient and will be subject to tests to identify different chemical components and their quantities to identify the conditions of the patient's health.